

JHS CELEBRATES INTERNATIONAL DAY TO PROTECT EDUCATION FROM ATTACK by Reiniel Mojica and Reisha Castillo

The Junior High School Department observed the International Day to Protect Education from Attack, aligned with the global theme 'Can Education Survive Attack? The Resilience of Human Communities,' from September 6-10, 2026, at Philippine School Doha.

As part of the weeklong commemoration, students participated in an art activity on September 7 centered on the theme 'What Keeps Learning Alive?' Teachers selected one entry from each section across Grades 7 to 10, yielding 41 entries that were subsequently displayed in the JHS hallways. Five selected artworks per grade level are scheduled for submission to the Education Above All Foundation on September 30.

Additionally, students engaged in the Wish Box and Messages of Hope activity on September 9 by writing notes of support and solidarity, with one selected letter per section posted on a dedicated display board. On the same day, class-designated Values Ambassadors were recognized during morning and afternoon assemblies to highlight student role models as part of the weeklong celebration.

The International Day to Protect Education from Attacks is observed annually on September 9, established by the United Nations General Assembly to safeguard education in times of conflict. The initiative highlights the necessity of safeguarding schools, students, and educational personnel in conflict-affected regions, advocating for continuous learning and the protection of academic institutions worldwide.
